Project - Social cohesion - give a hand to become a friend

EARLY SCHOOL LEAVING

Leaving school early is associated with unemployment, social exclusion, poverty and health problems. There are many reasons why some young people give up education and training prematurely: personal or family problems, learning difficulties or a difficult socioeconomic situation. The organization of the educational system, the atmosphere in the school and the relationship between teachers and students are also important factors.

Since the reasons why young people do not complete secondary education are often complex and interrelated, policies to reduce early school leaving must cover a range of issues and include education and social policy, youth work and health-related aspects.
